Hi Stanley,

Thanks again for your previous interest in the SDR role at OpenAI and your time with Tommy! My name is Davide and I am part APAC recruiting team. We recently opened a new Business Development Representative - APAC role in Singapore and would love to consider you for it. If you are still interested, we'd like to ask you to complete the following assignment. If the timing isn't right, kindly let me know at the earliest.

Next Steps:

This is not a traditional SDR role. Our Sales Development team partners with the world's most important organizations as they navigate AI transformation. You will engage with senior leaders, uncover strategic business opportunities, earn trust with executives, and help shape how enterprises adopt AI responsibly and effectively.

We're looking for exceptional talent: intellectually curious, highly driven, consultative by nature, and deeply excited about the future of AI.

This assignment is designed to evaluate how you think, communicate, build trust, and operate in a high-impact environment.

What We're Looking For:

- Genuine passion for AI and OpenAI's mission
- Executive presence and communication skills
- Strategic thinking and business judgment
- Consultative instincts and customer empathy
- Creativity and resourcefulness
- Ownership mentality and long-term ambition

Submission Guidelines:

- Timeline: Submit within 3 business days of receiving this assignment
- Format: Submit a Loom video walkthrough via this link: <https://you.ashbyhq.com/openai/assignment/fc0f6b9a-00bc-4e23-bb46-d5d12aa99c3e>
- Length: 7 minutes or less (quality > quantity)
- Tools: Feel free to use any tools to support your work (e.g., Google Slides, Docs, etc.), including AI tools. You may use ChatGPT or any other tools— what matters is how effectively you leverage them, not whether you use them

Part 1 (1-2 min): Why You? Why OpenAI?

Introduce yourself as if speaking to our hiring panel. Cover briefly:

- Why OpenAI
- Why this role
- What makes you a strong fit
- Why you'd thrive in this environment
- We're looking for conviction, self-awareness, humility, ambition, and authenticity.

Part 2 (5 min): Advise a Strategic Customer

Imagine you've joined OpenAI's Sales Development team. Your first task is to develop a thoughtful account strategy for DoorDash that creates executive interest in partnering with OpenAI. Please cover:

1. Your point of view: How should DoorDash use AI to strengthen its business or unlock future growth over the next 3 years?
2. One high-impact use case:

growth, faster operations, internal productivity, support, logistics, etc.)

3. Executive engagement plan: If you had 30 days to build momentum:

- Who would you target first and why?
- What business priorities would you lead with?
- How would you earn credibility?
- What would your outreach sound like?
- Share at least one example of outbound messaging you would use to engage

4. Your Standout Approach: What would you do that others likely wouldn't? What strengths would give you an edge in this role?

Final Note

We are building for the long term and looking for future sellers, advisors, and leaders. If that excites you, we're excited to hear from you.

Additional details if this is your first time using Loom

Hi Davide,

Good evening, happy Thursday!

Thank you for your email, it's a pleasure to e-meet you! Hope all's going well with the current expansion of the SG team.

Great to hear that the team has opened a new BDR role in Singapore - Sure, I'm still interested in this role and would love to dive back in.

More than happy to get started on the assignment, but I'm currently overseas on vacation and will only be back in Singapore tomorrow evening with access to my computer afterwards.

Will it be alright for us to start the 3 business days timeline for this assignment beginning tomorrow instead? As this was rather unexpected, and I currently have limited access to my devices as I'm out of town.

Hope to hear from you soon, thank you!

Warmest regards,
Stanley
